

Image Captions – Pentagon Press Corps Briefing – Jan. 28, 2010

1. PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (Jan. 25, 2010) Marine Corps 8th Engineer Support Battalion unloads supplies off of a floating causeway from the USNS Lummus (T-AK3011). The Marine Corps is currently providing assistance in the main seaport of Port-au-Prince, Haiti as part of the humanitarian and disaster relief to Haiti, Operation Unified Response. (U.S. Navy photo by Mass Communication Specialist 2nd Class Chris Lussier/Released)

2. PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (Jan. 21, 2010) Medical professionals aboard the Military Sealift Command hospital ship USNS Comfort (T-AH 20) delivered baby Esther at 2:27 p.m. on Jan. 21, 2010. She is the first baby delivered aboard the 1,000-bed floating hospital, which is in Haiti supporting Operation Unified Response. Weighing less than five pounds, baby Esther was delivered seven weeks prematurely by cesarean section as her mother sustained pelvis and femur fractures during the earthquake that struck Haiti on Jan. 12, 2010. Despite being premature, she is healthy and was delivered without complications. (U.S. Navy photo by Mass Communication Specialist 3rd Class Matthew Jackson/Released)

3. HOMESTEAD AIR RESERVE BASE, Fla., (Jan. 21, 2010) A mobile air traffic control tower is loaded onto a Russian Antonov An-124 cargo plane at Homestead Air Reserve Base, Fla., Jan. 21, 2010. The mobile air traffic control tower will increase the efficiency of aid being delivered to earthquake victims in Haiti. (U.S. Air Force photo/Tech Sgt Andy Bellamy)

4. PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (Jan. 25, 2010) Navy Diver 1st Class John Neal, assigned to Mobile Diving and Salvage Unit (MDSU) 2, inspects a damaged pier. Military engineers are conducting salvage and repair operations in the main seaport in Port-au-Prince, Haiti during Operation Unified Response. (U.S. Navy photo by Mass Communication Specialist 2nd Class Chris Lussier/Released)