

Leadership, Learning & Development Division Supports Feds Feeds Families

In 2009 the Federal Government launched the Feds Feeds Families campaign to help combat hunger for families throughout the United States. This is an important campaign as 1 in 6 people in the United States struggle with hunger.

This year the support has been outstanding from throughout the federal government and several organizations and individuals have received recognition for their donations. Not to be outdone, members from the Leadership Learning & Development Division from Defense Civilian Advisory Service (DCPAS), have once again stepped up to the plate to support this important initiative. Members from this Division contributed food or provided funds for the purchase of various non-perishable food items. As Bob Swaney remarked, “we are training individuals from all over the world to be future leaders. This is our way of “leading from the front” and “leading by example” and “walking the talk” to show our support for this very important federal initiative.” This year the division donated over 400 lbs of food and they have greater plans to do more in the future.

Pictured are Bob Swaney and Angela Williams from the Leadership Learning & Development Division unloading and receiving food items for Feds Feed Families